Bring me the Satin Coffin ; lay the Babe
Vpon the Pillow ; hie thee, whiles I say
A priestly farewell to her : sodainely, woman.
2. Sir, we haue a Chest beneath the hatches,
Caulkt and bittumed ready.
Per. I thanke thee : Meriner say what coast is this ?
2. We are neere Tharsus.
Per. Thithar gentle Mariner,
Alter thy course for Tyre, when canst thou reach it ?
2. By breake of day, if the winde cease.
Per. O make for Tharsus,
There will I visite Cleon, for the Babe
Cannot hold out to Tyrus ; there Ile leaue it
At carefull nursing : goe the wayes good Mariner,
Ile bring the body presently.

Exit.

Enter Lord Cerymon with a seruant,

Cer. Philemon, hoe.

Enter Philemon.

Phyl. Doth my Lord call ?
Cer. Get fire and meate for these poore men,
It hath beene a turbulet and stormy night,
Ser. I haue beene in many ; but such a night as this,
Till now I neare indured.
Cer, Your Master will be dead ere you returne,
Ther's nothing can be ministred to nature,
That can recouer him : giue this to the Pothecary,
And tell me how it workes.

Enter two Gentlemen.

1. Gent. Good morrow.
2. Gent. Good morrow to your Lordship,
Cer. Gentlemen, why do you stirre so early ?
1. Gent. Sir, our lodgings standing bleake vpon the sea
Shooke as if the earth did quake :
The very principles did seeme to rend and all to topple,
Peur surprize and seare, made me to leaue the house,

2, Gent.

2. Gent. That is the cause wee trouble you so early.
Tis not our husbandry.
Cer. O you say well.
1. Gent. But I much maruaile that your Lordship
Hauing rich attire about you, should at these early houres
Shake off the golden slumber of repose : tis most strange
Nature should be so conuersant with paine,
Being thereto not compelled.
Cer. I hold it euer Vertue and Cunning.
Were endwomens greater, then Nobleness and Riches,
Careless heyres may the two latter darken and expend ;
But immortality attends the former,
Making a man a God :
Tis knowne, I euer studied Physicke,
Through which secret Art, by turning ore Authority,
I haue together with my practise, made familiar
To me and to my aide, the best infusions that dwels
In Vegitiues, in Mettals, Stones : and can speake of the
Disturbances that Nature works, and of her cures ;
Which doth diue me a more content in course of true delight
Then to be thirsty after tottering Honour,
Or tye my pleasure vp in silken Bags,
To please the Foole and Death.
2. Gent, Your honour hath through Ephesus,
poured foorth your charity, and hudereds call themselues
Your Creatures ; who by you haue beene restored,
And not your knowledge, your personall paine,
But euen your purse still open, hath built Lord Cerimon
Such strong renowne, as neuer shall decay.

Enter two or three with a Chest.

Ser. So, lift there.
Cer. What's that ?
Ser. Sir, euen now did the sea tosse vp vpon our shoure
This Chest ; tis of some wracke.
Cer. Set it downe, let vs looke vpon it.
Gent. Tis like a Coffin, sir.
